Camp Grayling Officer's Open Mess — Recognized Historic Site

By MS Janet Kreger

As at no other time in America's past, people are beginning to feel that the very best way to cope with the future is to hold on to a little of the past. For some people, this feeling spurs them to search into their family's history and to develop a family tree. Others pore over history books at the library to get a fuller understanding of the events and people that played a role in history. Yet others work to recognize, maintain, and protect an historic building as a way to put the past into perspective.

In the field of architectural conservation, the growing popularity is becoming more and more evident. In 1955, when the Michigan Legislature adopted Public Act 10 as a means by which official recognition could be provided for Michigan's historic architectural resources, only a few sites received designation. Today, however, the Michigan History Division of the Michigan Department of State and its citizen review body, the Michigan Historical Commission, administer a State Register program of over 1500 sites. Listings include all types of architectural resources ranging from opulent Victorian residences to handsome commercial buildings, governmental buildings to churches, isolated sites to entire historic districts.

Camp Grayling recently became involved in preserving a part of its past when the Michigan Department of Military Affairs successfully nominated the Camp Grayling Officer's Open Mess to the State Register of Historic Sites. Submitted to and approved for designation by the Michigan Historical Commission in August of 1978, the Officer's Open Mess is located on Howe Road within the Camp Grayling complex.

Rasmus Hanson, a local Grayling lumber baron, donated the land for Camp Grayling in 1913 as well as the $20,000 needed to construct the attractive Officer's Open Mess. Within the building, completed in 1917, the Officer's Club area was designed to accommodate the Governor's Suite used during the Executive's traditional review of the troops each year. The Ballroom, also housed within the Open Mess, was and still is used for the Governor's Ball and a variety of other formal military affairs. Built of wood and attractively detailed on the exterior with a deep porch stretching along the entire front facade and rows of dormer windows set into the low hipped roof, the Officer's Open Mess lends an air of beauty and relaxation to an otherwise austere military setting.

The Camp Grayling Officer's Open Mess is a significant addition to the State Register of Historic Sites both from an historical and an architectural point of view. As more contemporary military buildings are similarly recognized, the State Register will become a richer reflection of Michigan's architectural heritage.

JANET L. KREGER, Historic Preservation Coordinator for the Michigan History Division of the Michigan Department of State, is involved in the State Historic Preservation Program. A specialist in Architectural History and Community Education and Organization, she received a B.A. in American History from the University of Michigan in 1972 and an M.S. in Historic Preservation and Restoration from Columbia University in 1976.

Spring Rains Signal Worst Fire Hazard

Roscommon—It seems unlikely, but the spring rainy season is also the season of the highest forest fire potential in northern Michigan.

Ron Wilson, Forest Fire Specialist for the Dept. of Natural Resources in the northern lower peninsula, explains the correlation. "Dead leaves on the forest floor are dried out by the spring winds. This dry fuel, coupled with high spring temperatures and low relative humidity, creates an ideal condition for the spread of fire."

Wilson cites careless burning of debris, such as leaves and brush, old boards and boxes, as the number one cause of forest fires during the months of April and May. Forty-nine percent of the forest of April, 1978 were started by debris burning out of control.

"The spring clean-up projects of cabin owners often result in a lot of trash to be hauled away or burned," says Wilson. "The problem is that people don't follow safety guidelines by tending their fires until they are completely out."

The Crawford County Economic Development Corporation has scheduled a meeting for Friday, April 27, Noon Luncheon at the Holiday Inn.

The purpose of the meeting is to meet with representatives of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, bonding attorneys of Detroit, who will advise the economic development corporation officials of procedures to follow in a bonding program.

We extend a special invitation to the new people in our community and especially the recent retirees.

Crawford Co. Commission on Aging President, John H. Alef Director, Lora Gould

Any time the ground is not snow covered, a Dept. of Natural Resources burning permit is required for any outdoor fire except a campfire or a fire in an approved barrel with a metal cover or screen. The cover or screen must not have holes or mesh larger than three-fourths of an inch in diameter, as specified in the law.

A burning permit is free and may be obtained from any DNR field office. Ken Haines, DNR Regional Radio Dispatcher, issued scores of burning permits last year for issued over the telephone, which makes it easier to abide by the law. They are granted on a day-to-day basis so that changing weather conditions can be assessed, and permits issued only when conditions are relatively safe for an open fire.

There are several precautions to take before you ignite a debris pile. Wilson stresses, "Clear an area around the fire and keep a shovel at hand. Have a garden hose hooked up and

Why Is Millage Increase Necessary?

Inflation Escalates Cost of Education

by Joe Schrader

Despite school enrollment that is expected to be stable, administration officials predict that inflation will result in soaring costs within the Crawford-AuSable Dist. next year.

Over the next couple of weeks, the school board will be wrestling with the school budget and a final decision on the millage proposal that will be made at a special session scheduled for April 30th.

A recent talk with School Superintendent Dr. William Diedrich revealed that Crawford County ranks 500th in the 530 school districts in Michigan in terms of per pupil school funding. Although alternative programs are being considered, a basic, economic fact exists. Based on the current millage, the school will "be in the red" by over $108,000 this operating year.

"Inflation has just killed us," Diedrich commented. "and just to continue our basic and on-going educational programs, a millage increase proposal is a foregone conclusion."

Projected increased in basic school operating costs include 18.32% in fuel costs, 4.56% in electricity, 17.14% in transportation and 7.52% in special education. Teacher salary and fringe benefit increases are an undetermined factor but will be determined between negotiations between the school system & teacher's union on tap for this year.

No significant changes are anticipated in operational expenses next year except for the upward costs of inflation. That, in and of itself, dictates a need for a millage increase proposal on this year's ballot. Diedrich said. The figure tossed around at last week's board session was a boost of 3.25 mills. That is necessary, said the finance committee, to generate $3,278,000 needed to operate the schools next year.

Although no final decision on school millage will be made until the special April 30th session, school administrators and the board members have predicted that voters will face an increase proposal on the June 11th ballot.

The Avalanche will continue to keep the public aware of board activities and millage proposals in our upcoming issues prior to the general election in June.

Child Abuse in Crawford Co.

by Dennis Rau

A young child is reported to have burns about his arms and face: a young girl is forced to have sexual relations with her father; an infant is left in a closet for extended periods of time; parents leaving young children alone for days to care for themselves. These are the kinds of reports that we receive in the Children's Protective Services unit at the Department of Social Services.

There is some belief among many of the people in Crawford County that these types of things do not exist. Unfortunately, that is not true. There is definitely child abuse in Crawford County along with child neglect. It is my intention in this series of articles to inform the people of Crawford County of what types of things cause child abuse and to speak out about specific ways in which the Department of Social Services, along with other community agencies are helping to correct these situations.

I would encourage you, as a reader, to be attentive to suggestions that we make and to the profile that we present of potentially abusive or neglectful parents. It is very important that we in Crawford County offer our help to both parents and children who are in potentially abusive or neglectful situations.

We will also attempt to answer any questions that parents or children might have in regards to child abuse and neglect in Crawford County.

ford County. All you need to do is to send a letter addressed to me at the Crawford Dept. of Social Services and I will attempt to answer your questions. It is certainly not necessary for you to sign your name to the letter. I am confident that we can answer your questions in future articles if you wish. It can not be stressed too strongly that child abuse does occur in Crawford County, and steps are being taken to help reduce or eliminate the factors that cause parents to abuse their children. Next week we will discuss "How to Identify an Abusive Parent".

"Once you set a fire, don't leave until it is completely out."

The penalties are severe for negligence that allows a fire to escape. Under the provisions of Forest Fire Law, Act 329, P.A. 1969, you may be liable for all expenses incurred by the state in the suppression of the fire. Wilfully setting a forest fire is a felony offense.

All sightings of forest fires should be reported immediately to the Dept. of Natural Resources. Regrowth is slow, and prevention of fires is the best way to protect standing timber crops.

In addition to careful attention to debris fires, extra caution is urged this spring with campfires, cigarettes and matches, and hot exhaust pipes on off-road vehicles.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nowak were southern vacationers for three weeks. They went first to Jekyll Island, Georgia, where they played golf and then on to Florida where they visited friends.

Easter weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Thompson were their son and family, Pat and Mary Thompson and Bridget and Casey of Saginaw, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thompson, of Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eisey were hosts to a family dinner party on Saturday evening when they celebrated the third birthday of Max Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Thompson, and the fourth birthday of Brenda Eisey. Don Eisey flew home from Endicott, N.Y. to help in the celebration. Also attending was Mrs. Alice Wood, great-grandmother of Max and Brenda.

Mrs. Mailda Hunter accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Julie Laurent, and children, Greg, and Christopher, of Traverse City and Ben Webster of Carson City, to Springfield, Va. There they visited Julie's daughter and husband, Pat and Cindy Doyle, and did some sightseeing in Washington, D.C. taking in Mt. Vernon and a tour of the White House.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McIntosh spent five weeks in Jekyll Island, Ga. They report excellent weather and some good golfing. Spending Easter with them was Bob McIntosh, of East Lansing, who had a few days off from his teaching at Lansing Community College.

Par for the Course

In spite of a bad start with the April 16 blizzard which cancelled the opening of the Grayling Country Club, supposedly unlucky Friday the thirteenth saw temperatures in the 60's and brought out 25 golfers. The Happy Hour that afternoon was a big success with 60 people attending and lots of fun with the fortune cookies and congeniality.

Tom Brogger says the course is in fairly good shape and this week they hope to start putting in the new trap on number one and planting trees.

Watch out for Tom LaMotte! With all those birdies he sank last weekend, he came out on top with the weekend leaguers.

THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1979—GRAYLING, MICHIGAN

From Our Corner ...

Our Corner is going to have a easy start tonight...last week we received a letter from two of our favorite people...even though we are envious of them...

We speak of former Chamber Manager Chum and wife Marilyn from down south in Florida. From their note it seems they are as busy down there as when they lived in God's country.

Their note began with Hi You All, Thanks for the reminder our subscription renewal...don't want you to shut us off...Weather is gorgeous here, but then you don't want us to bore you with details.

With all their activities they are involved in they hoped to be able to return to Michigan for a short while this summer...and ended their note with...Till next time...take care, and will save up the orange pop to bring with us this summer...that's more than the country club thinks about us...

Last fall after the golf leagues were finished, and all those gorgeous trophies were passed out to winners we were asked if we shouldn't consider on giving up playing in the league because we evidently didn't have the killer instinct anymore, and through our promotional agent, it seemed as we prayed for rain every Wednesday afternoon...it would be a good idea if we thought about it through the winter, and if we came up with the conclusion we should get right down there and dig for last putt, and stop thinking rain on Wednesday, we still would be acceptable to the league.

The winter passed...and though many turmoil nights wondering what we should do...we came up with the decision, the killer instinct as left this ol' fella, bronze idols mean nothing to us these days...so, we will graciously bow out...

With the traumatic experience we had to go through this winter on deciding whether or not to play golf this summer we thought our decision was okay because our immediate boss had already joined the club so she could continue her favorite pastime when the sun is high in the sky...and we figured we would be able to come over and wait for her on the 10th hole...

Not so...not only do they want us off the course, the board of directors have decided the 10th hole will not serve our favorite orange pop...but then, guess we can't win them all...

An idle thought...we have to wonder why the who we do not know who is responsible) the state, the city, or the railroad company keeps pouring money into the railroad crossing on M-72 West every other year when within three months it's like a washboard when a person has to drive over it...

It has been only a couple years ago when we brought up the same thing...coming back from Traverse City we almost lost the wheels from the car...this past Sunday was no different.

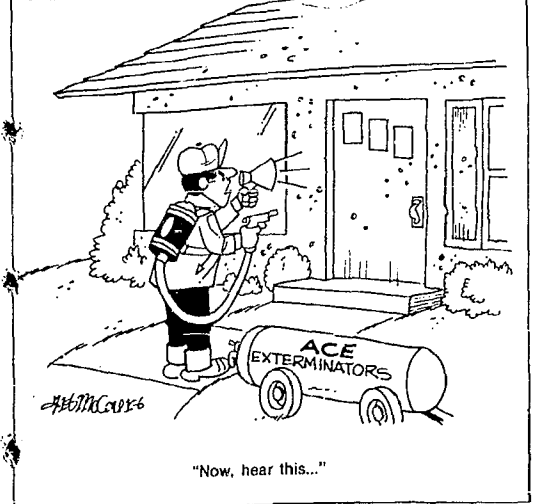

Last summer, the railroad crossing at I-75 Business Loop South, and M-72 east was redone with metal ties.

With all the traffic headed for the Traverse City area, and the land of lakes to our west, plus, the bankers using 72, we have to wonder who is in control doesn't get something done. It would solve a major problem, unless those in control have an interest in an asphalt company.

In our opinion...the tracks at M-72 are the worst we have ever experienced to have to cross over...and that includes those out in the country, such as those going to Traverse City.

Now that we have our frustrations out of the way...we will end this portion of (we hope your favorite newspaper) with a wish that you had a wonderful Easter weekend...we did with T.J. and Stef.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Baptist Separation of Church and State

There are four general relationships between church and state. First, the church in authority over the state. This has been the historical position of the Roman Catholic Church. Second, the state in authority over the church. We see this in practice especially by communists governments. Third, the church and state as equals working together. State protestant churches in many countries reflect this position. The Baptist position is for total separation of church and state.

Jesus shared this principle with us in Mark 12:17, "...render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." In His trial before Pilate, Jesus make a distinction between the spiritual and physical government of man. Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world; if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now is my kingdom not from hence." John 18:36.

History has taught us that if government and church are not separated one will attempt to control the other. Thousands of people have died because of extremes on both sides. In History, men like Roger Williams and Isaac Barhus fought hard to see the establishment of Article I of our Constitution.

The purposes of each institution demand that they separate from each other to complement each other in God's plan. The state must maintain order. This is done by law. Law to be effective must be enforced. Punishment must be swift, just and in proportion to the crime. Obedience to law should be honored as righteous. Defense from enemies without and within is an important part of government. To promote the general welfare is an overall goal of government.

The purposes of the church begin with grace, not law. The church promotes God's love, grace and mercy in Christ Jesus. The church preaches

Parent-Talk

At the Parent-Child Center we learn from the things parents and children tell us. They are our teachers who let us know what it is like to be parents and children. In this month's column we are sharing feelings about newborn babies.

If you have questions or ideas to share, call us at 366-7250 or write Box 406A, Route 1, Prudenville, Mich. 48651.

One of the loveliest discoveries made in the past few years of medical research has been in learning the amazing things that a brand-new baby can do. For example:

1. Where it was once believed that newborns were blind, or at least saw very poorly for several weeks, we now know that babies see very well early in their life, and may "see" to some degree while still inside the mother's womb! A bright light shown through the uterine wall makes some babies cover their eyes with their hands, even before birth. In addition, we now know that infants as young as two weeks are often capable of telling the difference between the face of a parent and a stranger's face.

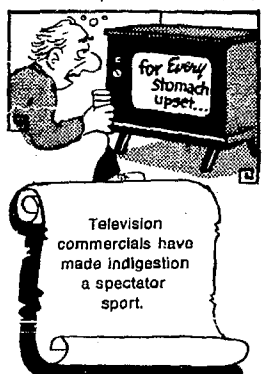

2. Where it was once believed that newborn babies heard very poorly, we now know that a baby as young as two weeks not only hears very well, but can also tell the difference between the sound of a parent's voice and the sound of a stranger's voice. In addition, some babies will curl up in a ball and attempt to withdraw from a loud sound, even while still inside mother's womb!

These discoveries in medical science may come as no surprise to many parents, who may have always felt that their babies "knew" them soon after the delivery. Other parents have been frustrated trying to convince in-laws that baby was smiling directly at mom, when the in-law persisted that the baby was only having "gas". Still other parents have tried to explain to neighbors or the family doctor that their baby seemed cold and distant to them, only to have that impression scoffed at, on the grounds that babies never know what they are doing. As is so often the case, parents were way ahead of the rest of us in understanding their own babies.

What do these discoveries mean for new parents, and for parents of the future? Well, one thing for certain is that we now know just how early a baby is ready for a special relationship with his mother and father. If a baby works that hard at that early age to tell the difference between the faces and voices of special people and of strangers, it follows that baby is wanting to reach out to and make a bond with those special people.

Another result of these discoveries is that we now know what an important part baby plays in the growth of a love relationship with mom and dad. A baby that smiles right at Dad is helping to "hook" his Dad, and is making it easier for Dad to love him. A baby that nuzzles into mother's neck or responds to mother's voice by kicking his legs and smiling is helping to draw that mother into a closer relationship with him. Similarly, a baby who feels stiff, who is hard to comfort, who rarely smiles at or looks at his mom—that baby may be harder to care for, even harder to love. A mother or father with such a baby may feel that they are terrible parents because they do not feel the love and the desire to care for their child that they see for their neighbor feel for the neighbor's own child. To feel so terrible is to ignore the fact that babies are different, that mother love and father love are not always automatic things. Falling in love is a two-way street. It requires a very special kind of effort for a parent to keep picking up a baby who is not cuddly, to keep looking at a baby who looks away, to talk to a baby who seems not to hear. Just as some parents are lucky enough to be rewarded with smiles and looks from the beginning of life with their new baby, so the persistently-giving parent of a baby that is not very responsive in the beginning will eventually be rewarded with the same smiles and looks. That parent will have the additional pleasure of knowing that he/she helped to teach baby to respond, helped to teach baby how to fall in love!

William G. Milliken
Governor of the State of Michigan
presents this

Executive Declaration

In Observance of April 15-21, 1979

Private Property Week

The right to own private property is the foundation of our free enterprise system. Property ownership contributes to a sense of pride, to the development of community responsibility and to family well-being.

Along with property ownership comes an obligation to preserve the land for present and future generations. Michigan has been blessed with a varied and beautiful terrain which we must protect through wise use and management of our land.

The real estate professionals of Michigan are vigorous in defending each citizen's right to share in the privilege of home ownership. Through education and training of their members and dedication to high professional standards, Realtors and their associates provide service and expertise at all levels of real property ownership arrangement, land use and facilities management.

For the past 15 years, Michigan real estate professionals have joined with others in their field nationwide in observing Private Property Week. During this week, they strive to make all Americans aware of their rights to own real property and their obligation to preserve that land.

Therefore, I, William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby declare April 15-21, 1979, as Private Property Week in Michigan, and urge all citizens to join with the Michigan Association of Realtors in this observance through appropriate programs of civic betterment during this week and throughout the year.

Given under my hand on this twenty-second day of March in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred seventy-nine and of the Commonwealth one hundred forty-third.

Constitutional Convention

scary prospect?

— Sure is

RICHARD MILLIMAN

The more I think about it, the less I like the idea of a national Constitutional Convention being called to write provisions that the federal government must balance its budget.

As noted in this column before, the ideal of balanced governmental budgets certainly appeals to me—as it does to most folks, I would guess. Whether any legal requirement for budget-balancing would be effective is problematical, in my opinion; but nevertheless, the idea is good, and legal requirements probably could do little harm.

But the means of getting there is quite another story. Under provisions of Article V of the present Constitution, a convention can be convened if at least two-thirds of the states formally request it. Presently nearly half of the state legislatures have done exactly that, calling for amendments to Article II to require the government to balance its budget.

But there could be problems...big problems. Publishers' Auxiliary—the trade publication of the National Newspaper Association, which has nationwide membership of hometown weekly and daily newspapers—recently took up the question in an editorial.

"There has been only one constitutional convention in the history of the republic—the one in 1787, during which the Constitution was written. We do not presume to suggest by this, as others have, that the absence of other constitutional conventions supports the contention that they are unnecessary to bring the Constitution into conformity with social and economic changes, the editorial reads.

"Rather, we make the point to suggest that we have an absence of precedent on which to base our expectations of just how delegates are to be chosen and, more important, what they will be allowed to study.

"What, let us say, would prevent them from proposing changes to other parts of the Constitution? Nothing that we know of, save some restrictions defined before the delegates convened.

"But might not such restrictions be of themselves unconstitutional? Perhaps, for the few restrictions set forth in Article V clearly do not cover this argument.

"Theoretically, we would be faced with the prospects of a wide open constitutional convention, one in which delegates would be allowed to run and stumble into whatever constitutional territory they might choose. And that, in our opinion, is a scary prospect...especially so when one considers what liberties some delegates might be tempted to take with First Amendment press freedoms.

"The First Amendment has stood for nearly 200 years as a kind of conscientious escort, shielding both the public and the press against improper attempts to subvert press freedoms and the principle inherent in those freedoms, the public's right to know.

"In our opinion, the public and the press might come away from an unrestrained constitutional convention with a far less desirable escort.

"If such a convention is convened, it will be up to the public and, perhaps even more so, the press to see to it that they leave with the guy what bring them."

The points are well taken, although emphasized with some questionable imagery and some more questionable grammar. Of course, Publishers' Auxiliary is speaking to its own audience in the nation's community, press, and therefore is rather narrow in its specific approach in the cited editorial.

Why subject the United States Constitutional to the perils of possible major overhaul, just to insert provisions which are of doubtful reality anyway? I don't think we should.

One of these rainy spring evenings, I invite you to pick up a copy of the United States Constitution and read it through. There are plenty of good points in it, which have served our nation well for almost 200 years. See if you would like a convention of present day politicians and thought leaders to have our Constitution available for rewrite.

Publishers' Auxiliary titled its editorial "a scary prospect." I quite agree.

"Corrie: Behind the Scenes with The Hiding Place," a new full-length color release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown at The Free Methodist (church) 5362 M-72, West, Grayling, Mich., on Sunday, April 22nd. A single showing is scheduled to begin at 6:00 P.M.

The Hiding Place, a true story filmed in Holland and other European locations, is based on the experience of Corrie ten Boom, who with her father, sister, and brother, provided refuge for countless Jewish families. A secret room was constructed in their home as a hiding place for use during Gestapo raids. The ten Booms' activities were discovered, and they were sent to prisons and concentration camps.

According to Kenneth Bliss, Director of Distribution for World Wide Pictures, The Hiding Place has been extremely well received, both by audiences and film critics. "Corrie was produced to give people who have seen The Hiding Place or read her many best-selling books an opportunity to hear her share many of her memories about her life in Holland, her family, and her lifetime of service to others."

Bliss added that the film "offers a great lesson in the perseverance of a personal faith in a very dark and trying period of world history. Corrie ten Boom, now in her eighties, has a tremendous vitality, a deep spiritual commitment, and a profound love for her fellow man. We believe we have succeeded in transmitting a part of her zest, personality, and source of strength through this film."

Bliss noted that the film includes "interesting sidelights on the experiences of the cast and crew during the filming of The Hiding Place."

The Reverend Otis Smith, pastor of The Free Methodist Church, stresses that the showing of "Corrie" is open to the public free of charge. "We encourage families to plan to attend together, for what we believe will be a memorable experience," he concluded.

Sweet Adelines Activities

After a couple weeks in balmy Florida it was hard getting back to snow and getting the vocal chords limbered up. But practice we did Wednesday, April 11th, at our weekly rehearsal.

The chorus is hard at work on the many details involved with putting on a show. The girls are out selling ads and we thank all of you people who were kind enough to purchase ads from us. Without you, the public, we could not function and continued to sing and perform for your enjoyment.

Wednesday found us working on choreography with Sue, and we all had left feet and arms we didn't know what to do with. If it wasn't so funny it would be sad!!

We were pleased to note that our last Music Scholarship recipient, Pat Walker, had the lead in the Roscommon Music Department Musical, "Sound Of Music." Our congratulations to you Pat and the rest of the cast for a job well done.

Williams Jr., Milwaukee, Wis., Robert F. and James A. of St. Louis, Missouri; one daughter, Susan Montgomery of Stockton, Mo. The Williams family have been summer residents of Lake Marguerite for many years. Mr. Williams was chairman of the Board of Directors of the Williams Paper Company in St. Louis, member of the Paper Producers organization, supporter of the Boy Scouts of America, Past President of the Kiwanis, member of the Inter circle of the Kiwanis, and a prominent business man. Memorial services were held in St. Louis.

No Problem
A newlywed found his wife in tears when he arrived home one evening.
"I made mother's favorite cake and put it out to cool but the cat ate half of it," she sobbed.
"That's alright, dear," the husband comforted. "I know someone who's got an extra kitten."

Twister! Tornado Tips to Save Lives

Each year tornadoes kill hundreds of people. Thousands of homes are destroyed. Whole buildings disappear and only their basements are left. No one can stop a tornado, but there are precautions you can take to safeguard lives and property.

The peak tornado season is generally recognized as April, May and June. One has to hear but one word, Xenia, to remember the fury of a tornado in our state.

There is little that can be done to avoid the property destruction tornadoes bring; but tornadoes do not have to be killers. You can take precautions when a storm threatens and thereby save lives, reduce the threat of injury and lessen property damage.

A tornado is a severe storm. The winds in a tornado turn counter-clockwise with wind speeds that vary from under 100 miles per hour to approaching 300 miles per hour. Tornadoes do their destructive work through the combined action of their strong rotary winds, flying debris and the partial vacuum in the center of the vortex.

Most tornadoes move from the southwest to the northeast. Generally, tornadoes occur in the spring in the late afternoon on a hot day. But remember, tornadoes can happen at any time.

EASY TO RECOGNIZE
You'll have no trouble recognizing an actual tornado! It is a funnel-shaped cloud extending down from the base of a thunder cloud. As it touches earth, it writhes and twists throwing up debris in all directions. It is usually accompanied by hail, violent thunderstorms and wind. Its noise is so loud it can blot out the sound of crashing buildings and falling trees.

When the skies look threatening, listen to the radio. The National Weather Service and the Severe Storm Warning Center track all weather systems with sophisticated radar and are usually able to give adequate advance warning of violent weather conditions. A Tornado Watch means the atmospheric conditions are such that tornadoes could develop. A Tornado Warning means an actual funnel has been sighted in your area. Warnings are usually accompanied with a description of the speed and direction of travel of the funnel. Many communities have also arranged special warning systems such as sounding warning sirens.

When a watch is issued, listen to broadcast advisories, be ready to take cover. It is wise to collect a battery-powered light and radio and have family members within earshot under watch conditions. Also, take your car keys; should a tornado hit your area, your car may still be operable—but keys could be lost in the rubble.

IMMEDIATE ACTION SAVES LIVES
When a tornado threatens, immediate action can save lives. Stay away from windows, doors, outside walls and protect your head.

IN HOMES OR OTHER BUILDINGS open all windows a crack to equalize air pressure. Go to the basement or a place in the middle of the house, like a closet, bathroom or interior wall. Get under something sturdy.

IN SCHOOL, be calm and follow the directions of your teacher. Stay away from auditoriums and gymnasiums with wide, huge roofs that could collapse easily.

IN SHOPPING CENTERS OR VERY LARGE BUILDINGS look for a predesignated shelter. If TORNADO!

One of the most furious and devastating quirks of nature! Xenia, Ohio was leveled by a tornado on April 3, 1974 and many other Ohio communities have suffered extensive damage from destructive storms. Yet, by learning a few simple facts and taking the proper preventive measures, you can keep disaster from catching you unprepared.

Before

When the skies look threatening, listen to the radio. The National Weather Service and the Severe Storm Warning Center track all weather systems with sophisticated radar and are usually able to give adequate warning of violent weather conditions.

When a watch is issued, listen to broadcast advisories, be ready to take cover. It is wise to collect a battery-powered light and radio and have family members within earshot under watch conditions. Also, take your car keys; should a tornado hit your area, your car may still be operable—but keys would be lost in the rubble.

Take an inventory of all your household furnishings and personal belongings. In case of a tornado or other disaster, this inventory will be invaluable to you in settling your insurance claim. Make sure you keep your inventory in a safe place, like a bank safe deposit box.

During

You'll have no trouble recognizing an actual tornado! It's a spinning, funnel-shaped cloud extending downward from the base of a thundercloud. It sounds like the roar of hundreds of airplanes.

You'll probably get warning before that ominous sound approaches. We suggest you listen to the radio when the sky looks forbidding. A tornado watch means tornadoes may be expected to develop. A tornado warning means a tornado has actually been sighted.

Open all windows a crack to prevent a vacuum from being created within your house. An airtight house can literally explode in a tornado. For further protection, move to the southwest corner of your basement. Get under a heavy table or workbench if possible. If you have no basement, take cover under sturdy furniture in the center of the house.

If you're in an office building or school, protect yourself in an interior hallway on a lower floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide, free-span roofs. In open country, move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

After

Closely inspect your property, including automobiles, for damage. Report any gas leaks or electrical damage immediately.

If your home is damaged, get in touch at once with your insurance agent or company. In the meantime, secure your remaining property to protect it from further damage or theft. Take an inventory of the damage so you can file your insurance claim as soon as possible.

Notify your relatives of your safety. Local authorities may waste time trying to locate you if you don't send word. Do not tie up the telephone lines if they are needed for emergency calls.

Cooperate in the general clean-up of debris. You are responsible for cleaning debris from your own property.

The information on Tornadoes was furnished to the Avalanche by SFC Bob DeVoe, Editor of "Buckeye Guard" Ohio National Guard and was published throughout Ohio. We thought our readers would find this informative to them.

there isn't one, a middle hallway on the lowest floor is the next best place to take shelter.

IN MOBILE HOMES OR CARS leave them and find shelter in a building. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine or culvert with your hands shielding your head.

AFTER THE STORM
If a tornado should hit, remain calm—panic never helps. Most tornadoes are short-lived, lasting only four or five minutes and travelling on the ground for two miles, on the average.

Closely inspect your property, including automobiles, for damage. Check immediately for electrical problems and gas leaks and report to utilities or fire department if danger is imminent.

If you have extensive damage, contact your insurance company immediately. In the meantime, secure your property from further damage or theft. Heavy rains often follow a tornado.

Take an inventory of the damage to speed your insurance settlement. Your policy provides coverage for additional living expenses should you not be able to stay in your home.

There is also a policy provision for paying the expense of debris removal.

If you have not suffered damage, be a good neighbor and help those who need it. But do not telephone directly into or visit a disaster area. Reports will be broadcast, so let the rescue work proceed unhampered by spectators and curiosity seekers.

Do not enter a building damaged by a tornado until you are sure it is safe and will not collapse.

Use only approved or chlorinated supplies of drinking water.

Check food supplies. Food may contain particles of glass or shivers of other debris. Discard canned goods with broken seams.

Get food, clothing, medical care or shelter at Red Cross Stations or from local communities if necessary.

Notify your relatives of your safety. Local authorities may waste time trying to locate you if you don't send word. Do not tie up telephone lines if they are needed for emergency calls.

Cooperate in the general clean-up of debris. You are responsible for cleaning debris from your own property.

During repairs and clean-up wear shoes and gloves.

Glass, including fiberglass insulation, can injure unprotected hands and feet.

WHAT IF YOU ARE A VICTIM?
Do your best to protect yourself, your family and your neighbors from further damage.

Make certain authorities are notified that you are a tornado victim. Be prepared to cooperate with trained and authorized officers and volunteers who will arrive to give aid.

Do not sign contracts for repair work, removal of rubble or new insurance without consulting authorities. Tornadoes can strike at any time.

Be thinking calmly and clearly and helping one another, you can limit the injury and destruction tornadoes cause.

Preceding the bride were five attendants. Miss Janny Gates was Maid of Honor in yellow embroidered eyelet. She wore yellow flowers in her hair and carried a single yellow carnation. The four bridesmaids were dressed identically to the Maid of Honor only in different colors. Mrs. Cindy Olson in blue eyelet, Mary Martella in peach eyelet, Janet Papendick in green eyelet and Cathy Martella in pink. All the dresses were made by the groom's mother.

The groomsmen all wore white tuxedos with colored shirts to match the bridesmaids and maid of honor.

Best man for Mr. Martella was Joe Longuski. Groomsmen were Herb Olson, Ron Latuszek, Calvin Gates, Jr. and Jack McDonnell. Ushers were Jerry Weiss and Jim Bogie.

Mrs. Ellen Thompson sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

A dinner reception was held at Auman's House of Catering. The wedding cake, made by Mrs. Beth Wieland, was decorated with fresh flowers carrying out the color theme of the wedding. Jody's sister, Mrs. Gena Einheuser served the cake.

THOUGHT FOR FOOD

Scalloped Oysters
Oysters are not very pretty but they're delicious served in many ways, raw or cooked. Oysters are at their best now, so do scallop some now. They are edible in the summer but not nearly as good. Quick — frozen oysters come in packages, ready for use. Fresh oysters may be purchased in the shells or ready shucked.

1 pint fresh oysters
3/4 cup milk
3/4 cup heavy cream
Cayenne and tobacco to taste
Salt to taste
1/3 cup butter
2-1/2 cups crushed crackers

Drain oysters. Line a shallow baking dish with 1 cup of the cracker crumbs. Put the oysters on top of the crackers and season with salt and cayenne. Dot with half the butter and cover with remaining crackers. Mix tobacco with the milk and cream and pour over all, barely covering the oysters. Dot with remaining butter and bake for about 25 minutes in a preheated 400 degree oven. The oysters should be puffy and the crackers slightly browned. Oysters should be baked single layered so as not to be overcooked.

Spring is a season of warm sunshine, fields of flowers, lingering twilight and gentle breezes. Spring is tender and romantic. It is a wonderful time to be alive.

This delightful season draws us like a magnet to the magic world of the great outdoors. Flowers begin to bloom in all their radiance, and birds sing once more. There's an assurance in the air itself of fresh, new hope.

Spring is also a time when we're more receptive to thoughts of the eternal mystery of life. It's a special time to marvel at God's supreme plan for each of us and for all of His creation.

This week discover a new sense of wonder of the divine power that sends us a bright, new spring year after year . . . in church.

New Study Ranks Michigan Last In Business Climate

Lansing—Michigan is the least attractive state among the 48 contiguous states in which to expand or locate a business, according to a new study on the comparative business climates of the states, released today by the Conference of State Manufacturing Associations.

Citing the study, John G. Thodis, President of the Mich. Manufacturers Association, identified the workers' compensation and unemployment compensation systems as two major factors contributing to Michigan's last-place finish.

At the same time, Thodis called on the Mich. Legislature to speed up its efforts to eliminate abuses of Michigan's workers' compensation and unemployment compensation laws.

"The Michigan Legislature must act this year to eliminate the nearly automatic workers' compensation payments to retirees," Thodis said. "The definition of who is disabled and eligible to collect benefits is shamefully loose. Also, we need to establish a statute of limitations and a better system to coordinate various benefits available to workers."

In the case of unemployment compensation, he urged the legislature to change the law to make it more difficult for workers who voluntarily quit their jobs to collect unemployment compensation. He also called for more assurances that those collecting benefits are actively seeking work.

The study ranked Michigan the fourth highest in workers' compensation insurance rate paid by employers, and sixth highest in the nation in unemployment compensation benefits paid per covered worker.

"The thing I believe most people are not aware of is that the costs of programs are paid entirely by businesses—they do not come from government," Thodis said.

Other key factors leading to Michigan's poor showing were low rankings in state and local taxes per capita, average weekly manufacturing wage, labor union membership as a percentage of total labor, and days lost from work stoppages as compared to number of workers.

"What concerns us is that this study will be used against us by other states to lure business away from Michigan," Thodis said.

The study which spurred Thodis' comments was commissioned by the Conference of State Manufacturing Associations (COSMA), of which the MMA is a member, and compiled by a Chicago-based international CPA firm, Alexander Grant & Company.

The raw data and rankings came from the latest available statistical information from the U.S. Departments of Labor, Commerce, and Health, Education & Welfare, and the National Council of Compensation Insurance.

"We who live and work in this state know of its unmatched vitality and muscle as an industrial center. Unless we begin now to take steps to eliminate the heavy burdens placed on manufacturers and businesses in Michigan, we can only look forward to continued erosion of our competition position among the other states," he said.

The Michigan Manufacturers Association consists of 2,500 corporations owning 4,000 business which employ one million people in industry in Michigan.

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Whitey:

The article in last week's paper about some state funding for the sheriff's department twice mentioned that it would be at "no cost to the local taxpayer". I thought you knew better!

Or is it that the State has an accounting system that takes the thousands of dollars of State taxes paid by Crawford County residents and assigns it to run the State government or pay aid to Detroit and the money we'll get only includes taxes paid in the Upper Peninsula or some other place.

It's this kind of thinking that we are getting "something for nothing" that has driven our State and Federal taxes out of sight.

Sincerely,
Arthur R. Thayer

City Council Proceedings

Regular meeting of the City Council held Monday, April 9, 1979. The meeting was called to order by Mayor McEvers at 7:37 P.M.

Members present: Failing, Westervelt, Golinick, McEvers. Members absent: Thompson. Also in attendance: Jerry W. Morford, City Manager; Allen V. Schreiner, City Treasurer; Nelson A. Miles, City Attorney; O. David Gauthier, WOOD; Don Geiss, Herald Times; Bernard Fowler, Grayling Township Supervisor; Don Sorenson, Grayling Water Dept.; Mike Hauxwell, WGRY; Walt Nowak, Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce; Peter Stephan, Grayling Police Chief; Deborah Wescott, Chris Winingier, Jackie Bonkowski, William Bonkowski, John Smock, Betty Kucharek and Gloria Stephan.

Motion by Westervelt, supported by Failing that the minutes of the meetings of March 26, 1979 and April 2, 1979, be approved as presented. Ayes: 4, Nays: 0, Absent: 1, motion carried.

There were no citizens present who wished to speak.

Communications were received and noted.

From Wayne Hindmarsh re: Milltown Festival. He requested permission to block part of the Michigan Avenue for the festival. Mr. Morford will meet with the committee and report to Council.

From Allen Schreiner re: Cemetery perpetual care.

From NEMEDA re: Fiscal 1979-80 requesting funds for operations. The request to the city is for $400.00. The organization is trying to develop industry for Northeast Michigan and is working with the City and County to try to attract industry to the City Industrial Park and to the former Bear Archery buildings.

Old Business

Mr. Thompson was now present.

Discussion was held concerning the water lead replacement policy. Mr. McEvers asked Council not to pass the policy as stated. He felt that to require the water users to fund these replacements would be unfair. Mr. Golinick restated his position that once a line has been paid for it should be the city's responsibility to replace a lead. The pros and cons were discussed at length.

Motion by Westervelt, supported by McEvers that the matter be tabled until the next meeting. All Ayes, motion carried.

Replacement of sewer leads was directed.

Motion by McEvers, supported by Thompson that the motions of March 26, 1979, be rescinded, reinstating the policy of 11-26-73. Ayes: 4, Nays: 1 (Golinick), Absent: 0, motion carried.

The City Manager noted that the Special Election for Crawford County Public Transit is scheduled for April 30, 1979.

Arrangements are complete for election inspectors and arrangements have been made with Sy Wakeley to prepare the voting machines.

New Business

A discussion of the employee residency policy as regards CETA employees, took place. This discussion was held due to the hiring requirements of CETA. Mr. Morford requested direction as to whether making a CETA person a regular employee is a promoter or a new employee. Mr. Golinick stated that he was opposed to hiring any more employees who do not reside within the city. There was a good deal of general discussion. Mr. McEvers stated that, while he agreed with Mr. Golinick, he had a great deal of trouble with refusing this CETA employee a regular position just because he does not reside inside the city. CETA employees may not be treated different, reference city residence, than other employees.

Possible annexation of two areas east of the city was discussed. The areas are the Earl Gierke property (about 40 acres) and the area along the east side of Industrial Street (approximately 220 acres). Mr. Morford presented some information relative to this proposal.

Motion by McEvers, supported by Westervelt that the City Council of the City of Grayling meeting in regular session this 9th day of April, 1979, hereby resolve to submit to the Michigan State Boundary Commission a petition for annexation of the following described property located in Grayling Township, Crawford County, to the City of Grayling.

The territory proposed to be annexed to the City of Grayling is described as follows:

That portion of NE 1/4 of the SW 1/4 of Section 8 T26N R3W lying west of I-75 Grayling Township, Crawford County, Michigan.

Also That portion of NW 1/4 of SE 1/4 of Section 8, T26N R3W lying west of I-75 Grayling Township, Crawford County, Michigan.

(Contains 40 + acres).

By this resolution Council also certifies that they have examined the map to be presented as part of this application and are familiar with the property involved in the petition.

Further, that the Mayor, City Manager, City Clerk and all other City Officials are hereby authorized to sign all necessary documents to effect this annexation on behalf of said City of Grayling. Ayes: 5, Nays: 0, Absent: 0, motion carried.

Motion by Westervelt, supported by Failing that the City Council of the City of Grayling meeting in regular session this 9th day of April, 1979 hereby resolve to submit to the Michigan State Boundary Commission a petition for annexation of the following described property located in Grayling Township, Crawford County, to the City of Grayling.

The territory proposed to be annexed to the City of Grayling is described as follows:

S 1/2 of SW 1/4 of Section 17, T26N, R3W lying east of I-75 Grayling Township, Crawford County, Michigan. Also:

W 1/2 of E 1/2 of Section 17, T26N, R3W, Grayling Township, Crawford County, Michigan. (Contains 220 + acres.)

By this resolution Council also certifies that they have examined the map to be presented as part of this application and are familiar with the property involved in the petition.

Further, that the Mayor, City Manager, City Clerk and all other City Officials are hereby authorized to sign all necessary documents to effect this annexation on behalf of said City of Grayling. Ayes: 5, Nays: 0, Absent: 0, motion carried.

Parades and/or the placing of banners on state highways within the city was discussed. Mr. Morford presented his reasons for not wishing to sign applications for placing of banners across state highways. Ayes: 5, Nays: 0, motion carried.

Mr. Morford pointed out a severe problem with the fence at the cemetery.

The possibility of the purchase of a parcel of land was brought up by Mr. Morford.

A request to purchase a lot in the Industrial Park for a site of the Michigan State Liquor Store was presented. Mr. Morford recommended denial of the request because this is a retail store and not suited for an Industrial Park and will not create jobs which is the purpose of the Park.

Motion by Golinick, supported by Westervelt that Council reject sale of Lots 6 or 7 of the Industrial Park. Ayes: 4, Nays: 0, Abstain: 1 (Thompson)

There were no reports of Councilmen.

Reports of City Manager

Mr. Morford reported on:

Program to employ some youths for the summer through the Youth Services, at no cost to the city. The project would run from May 30 to August 30.

Several legislative matters.

CETA Funding To Help Holiday Inn-C.O.O.R. To Engage in Training Effort

Officials from the COOR Intermediate School District have worked out plans to engage in a special employment and training project with the Holiday Inn of Grayling for the special training of the handicapped individuals in the area and have set a target date for inception of the program in late April.

The program will involve the training of selected students, as many as 30, and will involve almost every aspect and phase of motel maintenance. But an even bigger of some of the graduates in jobs here at the Holiday Inn.

The search is now underway for an instructor to conduct the vocational training program, C.E.T.A. funding for which has now been approved.

According to Hertha Laupmatis, local Innkeeper, the CETA-funded program will involve a two-stage instructional procedure. The first will be an explorational phase involving an in-depth review and study of job content at the Holiday Inn. Assuming first stage success, the second will involve practical work assignments for participants involving up to 30 hours of work a week for those involved. Students selected will receive an appropriate training allowance under the CETA program.

It'll be a full-time educational and practical work program project for those involved and a training location within the Holiday Inn is now under scrutiny by Inn officials and COOR executives. Ron Nagy and Phil Wills, Program Coordinator, who conducted last week's presentation.

Sixteen to 21-year old COOR students will be considered and the overall aim is to provide practical and vocational selective motel employment skills.

Nagy and Wills, along with Innkeeper Laupmatis, met recently with members of the press to explain the objectives of the program.

School officials will be consulted before final placement of students, after which a meeting will be held by participating agencies to determine if participant selection is appropriate and otherwise proper.

At any rate, it now appears the effort will proceed, with a starting target date set for late this month.

A Christian Perspective On Death and Dying

An adult series, sponsored by the Commission on Education of the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church, will get under way this week. The four-night series will begin on Sunday, April 22nd at 7:00 p.m. and any interested persons are invited to attend.

The introduction to the subject will be presented by the Rev. George Spencer, the Rev. Robert Haskell, and will be followed by presentations on the legal aspects, involved. These will be explained by David Sabin, and Nelson Miles, Attorneys at Law. There will be time for discussion and questions, following the presentation.

This week's meeting will be held in the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church and further explanation may be obtained from the Church office.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank the many friends and relatives for their kind sympathy, cards, and flowers during the recent loss of our loved one.

A special thank you to Rev. Hazzard for his service. The ladies of Lovells for their dinner and the kindly service and care we received from Sorenson's Funeral Home.

Easter Seal Dinner Success

Thank You! Thank You! to all the wonderful people who patronized our Easter Seal Ham Dinner, April 5th, in spite of the storm. We cleared $1,018.20 to purchase loan closet equipment for you, the residents of Crawford County, to borrow anytime you have a need.

We thank Jim and Tanya of the Arrowhead Inn for hosting and donating for the dinner. The Lions Club members especially Julius Prause (top salesman), Rotarians who sold tickets, the staff at the Arrowhead who all volunteered, the young people who came in and washed dishes all evening, the folks from the Center staff who also volunteered all evening, Pat Nunn who seated the guest, our Kitchen Band who performed so diligently, and the beautiful ladies from various clubs and the senior citizens who donated desserts and salads to us.

A great big thank you also to Glen's Market, Foodland, A & P, Dowlers and Gordons for the hams. To J & R Florist who donated two lovely bunny flower arrangements which netted $26.20. How thoughtful of you. Also to all senior citizens and any others who sold tickets or did anything special to help us and to the newspapers and the local radio stations. We couldn't do without you.

Such beautiful community support couldn't be duplicated anywhere else in Michigan. From the bottom of our hearts, we thank you.

The Local Easter Seal Committee
Lora Gould, Chairman

Third Grade Make Kites

This week Mrs. Andrus' third grade class are making kites at the Grayling Elementary School. We traced and cut them out first. Then we designed them. Next we put string around the plane and wired the two sticks together. We laid the frame on the floor and folded the paper over the string and rigged it up. Finally we put a tail on it. All we need now is wind. Pictured is Mr. Andrus, Leslie Fraser, Heather Derenzy and Diane Walker. Written by Scott Czuba

JUNIOR DEPUTY PROGRAM—On Tuesday, April 10, 1979, the fourth graders at Grayling Elementary School went to Junior Deputy and watched two movies, called, "Face Yourself" and "To See Ourselves." The films were about driving safety. But when people don't obey the safety rules, they might get into trouble or have an accident. Mr. Akers got the two movies for us Junior Deputies. Faith Johnson is in the picture and Wanda Gabriel, Larry Akers, Louis Turner, and Nick Parrett. Written by Faith Johnson, Wanda Gabriel and Jason McEvers.

Eagles News

Easter Sunday was enjoyed by the adults as well as the children due to the spirit of Glen's Market of Grayling and Dowler Packing of Gaylord, who donated to the Easter egg hunt and our own members. It was a great success.
